

Mary E. Baker Bingo For Books – October 21

Baker School students and families played “Bingo for Books” with Lisa Zolga, Title 1 Parent Education Specialist. Bingo letters and numbers were called using math questions and number sentences. Parents learned why fluency is critical for reading comprehension and even had the chance to practice a few fun and easy strategies. There were many excited and happy winners. All students went home with a new book to add to their family library.

