

BHS Health Class Students Create Health Brochures for Classmates

Students in a Brockton High School Health class are putting their technology skills to work. They are researching the Internet for facts and then designing health brochures for presentations on health matters to their peers. Mrs. Janice Meade, Department Head of BHS Wellness Grades 9-12, said that the students are working very hard to design and publish brochures that deliver a clear and poignant message on current health issues for teens. She further stated that the students should feel very proud of their accomplishments.
